GROUP RESULTS

The private sector in Kenya continues to face significant challenges amid profound transformation. In 2025, the economic environment was characterised by sluggish GDP growth, inflationary pressures, climate disruptions, and limited public spending significantly due to foreign debt repayment pressures.

The private media industry was not spared. These factors collectively suppressed consumer spending and disrupted traditional revenue streams. Rising costs of essential goods weakened consumer purchasing power, posing a major challenge across the private sector, including the media industry.

In response, our Group implemented strategic measures to mitigate these effects. Despite this, total revenue declined 24% year-on-year, primarily due to slowed government contracts and reduced advertising revenue. A government debt backlog exceeding seven years further limited our operational flexibility.

On the expenditure side, the Group showed resilience. Direct costs fell compared to 2024, helped by stable foreign exchange rates that lowered newsprint and electricity expenses. Overhead costs dropped 26%, driven by prudent cost management and efficiency initiatives. Consequently, the Group recorded a pre-tax loss of Ksh133 million, an improvement from Ksh200 million in 2024, reflecting the positive impact of these efforts.

DIVIDEND

Given the financial results, the Board does not recommend an interim dividend.

OUTLOOK

The Group remains cautiously optimistic. We are actively executing a comprehensive transformation to better meet client needs through innovation across our media portfolio. Guided by the 2025-2027 strategic plan, we aim to become leaner, adopt a cost-effective structure, and align skills with market demands.

We are confident in our path to profitability through revenue growth and continued cost discipline. Despite economic headwinds, our strategic focus and operational efficiency will position the Group for a sustainable turnaround.
