Operating environment

The Company demonstrated resilience in a tough macro-economic environment across our export and domestic markets, delivering robust underlying performance.

Our export markets faced considerable headwinds, including adverse weather conditions, geopolitical tensions and currency devaluation. Despite these challenges, export sales volume was marginally higher, reflecting the benefit of favourable geographical mix. However, reported export revenues were adversely impacted by a lower transactional exchange rate between the Kenya Shilling and United States Dollar.

In the domestic market, constrained consumer purchasing power drove downtrading to lower priced brands, reduced consumption and contributed to a surge in illicit trade. Illicit trade in tax-evaded cigarettes now accounts for an estimated 37% of the market (according to third-party research). This illicit activity not only undermines industry revenues but also deprives the Government of approximately KShs 9 billion annually in taxes. The Government has made efforts to combat illicit trade. However, enhanced enforcement action and collaboration of all stakeholders is required to effectively curb the menace, bearing in mind the quantum of the challenge.

In June 2025, we resumed sale of our modern oral nicotine pouches. We continue to engage transparently and contribute to national dialogue to facilitate evidence-based regulation that is reflective of the reduced risk* profile of this product category.

Financial highlights

- Net revenue remained stable at KShs 11.7 billion driven by the benefit of strategic pricing in the domestic market, offset by the impact of a lower transactional exchange rate on export revenues.
- Total cost of operations declined by 6% to KShs 7.5 billion reflecting prudent cost management, reduced hard currency input costs on account of lower USD /KShs exchange rates and the benefit of productivity savings initiatives.
- Operating profit increased by 12% to KShs 4.2 billion, in line with stable net revenue and lower total cost of operations.
- Interest income of KShs 0.1 billion was earned, representing a significant improvement of 114% compared to an exchange loss of KShs 0.7 billion in the prior period. This is attributable to the stability of the Kenya Shilling against the US Dollar during the period.
- Profit before tax increased by 42% to KShs 4.3 billion driven by lower finance costs and improved operational efficiency.
- In line with our commitment to deliver sustained shareholder returns and underscoring solid underlying business performance, interim dividend has increased by 100% to KShs 10.00 per share (2024: KShs 5.00).

Looking forward

We are confident in the resilience of our underlying business, proven strategy and ability to sustainably deliver shareholder value. We remain committed to our corporate purpose to create A Better Tomorrow™ by building A Smokeless World through offering alternative innovative products, including modern oral nicotine pouches.

Dividend

The Board of Directors has approved an interim dividend in respect of the year ending 31 December 2025 of KShs 10.00 per share. The interim dividend, which is subject to withholding tax, will be paid on or about 26 September 2025 to shareholders on the register as at the close of business on 29 August 2025.
